
DEATH SETS ACTRESS FREE TO WED EARL

Gertrude Miller & Earl of Dudley

Gertrude Miller, formerly London's musical comedy queen, can now wed the Earl of Dudley, former Governor of Australia and Viceroy of India. The Earl for years has wished to marry her, but her London manager, Lionel Monckton, famous English composer, refused to permit a divorce. Monckton has just died in London and the Earl now will marry soon at Cannes, France. Monckton and his wife were married years ago when a young German was found, a supposed son of the Earl.

Willie Hoppe, world's champion billiard player, shown here in his home in happier moments with his wife and two children, has been granted a divorce in New York, naming Edward M. Exner, a salesman, as correspondent. Mrs. Hoppe, 32, is a sister of Raoul Walsh, film director, and George Walsh, movie headliner.

GREATEST YEAR OF HOME OWNERSHIP NOW ENSUING

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift

The first few weeks of the present year have given indication that, barring unforeseen contingencies, 1924 will witness the greatest volume of building in the history of the country.

While construction expenditures last year ran well above five billion dollars, the gain over normal pre-war years, in point of actual new construction, was not as great as the comparative figures might suggest. It is probably owing to the increase in building costs during the last half decade.

It is probable, however, that in home building the prospects now are that this will be the greatest year in the country's history.

From careful and authoritative surveys the indications are that the amount of dwellings to be erected in this country this year, not including apartments and apartment hotels, will be approximately $500,000,000 on the assumption that general building activities will continue through the year in keeping with present activities.

From an economic standpoint the country needs more homes, but the deeper advantages of widespread home building lie in the encouragement thus given to thrift.

Money prudently saved is always a benefit to the person who makes the saving, but money saved through the processes of home ownership is doubly valuable.

A home of this type shelters a thrifty family, the youthful members of which will go forth into the world with the value of thrift deeply and indelibly implanted within them.

Home-ownership gives an anchorage for the family—a feeling of security and stability that can be gained in no other way.

The man who owns his roof—the place that shelters his family and himself—his refuge in times of affliction and the haven of his happiest associations—will never be carried away by impractical theories of government.

This is the period of year when the encouragement of home-ownership proves productive of the greatest good.

It is earnestly to be hoped that the present prospects for the country's greatest home building year will be borne out.

No other single development would be of more salutary significance to the country.

Should Go in Debt Again.

The man who has his home left paid should immediately go in debt for another one.

Saugerties for Law Enforcement

Committee Appointed At a Meeting to Devise Means of Correcting Prevailing Conditions in Paper-Making Village.

Says the Saugerties Daily Post: A meeting in the interests of law enforcement and improvement of moral conditions in Saugerties was held in the Community House hall Monday evening. Attending the meeting were several of the clergy, male members of some of the village churches, village and town officials.

The subject before the meeting was vigorously discussed and some pointed remarks made regarding certain so-called bootleggers. It was generally conceded in the remarks passed, and some were "sharp edged," that conditions were wide open, intolerable and demanded immediate attention, and that if they were nuisances they could be abated.

The village officials contended that they were powerless to act in the matter and to support their position a letter from the district attorney was read, the substance of which stated that no provision had been made by the board of supervisors to carry on the work of enforcing the Volstead law in the county.

After some more discussion a committee of five, John T. Washburn, the Rev. William T. Renison, J. Arthur Clum, Dr. Luther Emerick and Luther Mac Connell, were named to devise some means whereby the existing conditions could be corrected.

John T. Washburn forcefully led the discussion against the prevailing conditions and others also expressed themselves earnestly about the lawlessness evident in town. W. Hoyt Overbush and Mayor Merwin Gillespy were the spokesmen for the village officials, the mayor giving his view of the governor's conference held in Albany last week.

Student Preaches at First Dutch

Last Sunday Domine Boeve's voice was a little worse for wear as a result of the big banquet of Friday evening; a heavy cold having settled in his larynx. The time for importing an outside preacher was too short. It dawned upon him that Albert Deyo, a second-year student at the New Brunswick Seminary, was spending the week end at his home at 43 Green street. It was 10 o'clock Sunday morning when Mr. Boeve called up this protégé of the church and drafted him into service.

Mr. Deyo fortunately had an extemporaneous sermon in his inside pocket; armed with that he marched right over to the vestry of the church where he met the domine and the two entered the pulpit together. Mr. Deyo taking practically all the service except the children's story. It was a large congregation that looked up into the face of the tall young preacher. But it is to be doubted that over a more sympathetic and appreciative people greeted him.

The earnestness, the simplicity, the sincerity of the young preacher soon drew the hearts to himself. He himself was forgetting about himself and wanted his audience to see Jesus only. Many were the friends that gathered round him at the close and that had watched his development from boyhood days. Bert Deyo had not disappointed them. They felt proud of their boy. If he can preach a sermon like that in his middle years, what may not be expected of him when he completes his course?

Byron Purdy Under Arrest

Byron Purdy of this city, was arrested by the Newburgh authorities on Tuesday at the request of the local police department on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. This morning Sergeant Phinney went to Newburgh after Purdy, who will be arraigned later before Judge Seabright in police court.

The larceny charge was lodged against Purdy by John D. Van Kleeck who alleges that Purdy took an Overland car of the model of 1917, from the Van Kleeck garage on August 5, 1923. The warrant was issued some time ago, but the police did not locate Purdy until Monday.

Waterpower Bills Introduced

Senate Will Pass Smith's, Providing For Immediate Development and Assembly Will Pass Republican Plan For Survey—That Will Be All.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Feb. 27.—With Governor Smith and Speaker Machold, the Republican leader of the assembly, hopelessly deadlocked on waterpower development, bills carrying out their respective ideas were introduced in the legislature today.

The governor's bill would create a power authority to immediately develop the state's vast hydro-electric resources. It contains a provision which the governor said, will guard the state's inalienable title to all power resources.

While the Republican measure also proposes a power authority, such authority would be clothed only with power to make a survey of the hydro-electric resources and report back to the legislature of 1925.

The Republican bill will be passed in the Republican assembly and the governor's bill will receive the approval of the Democratic senate.

That will mark the end of waterpower legislation at the present session, leaders said today.

Governor Smith threw himself into the waterpower fight today by assailing the Republican power bill as "just one more survey and a $100,000 appropriation."

"We can have an investigation of the state's waterpower resources without passing any legislation," the governor declared. "There have been investigations of this subject ever since 1910 to my personal knowledge. If we don't do anything more than that proposed by the Republican leaders there is no use doing anything at all at the present session of the legislature."

The Republican leaders claim the governor "backed down" following their first "harmony" conference on waterpower. At the first conference, they claim, the governor said he would be willing to have the proposed power authority simply make a survey this year and report back to the next legislature. Later they say, he changed his mind and declared he believed the proposed authority should be clothed with sufficient power to start development as soon as possible.

Friends of Governor Smith said the Republican leaders must have misunderstood the attitude taken by the chief executive at the first conference. They claim he never intended to convey the impression to the Republican leaders that he would be satisfied with just a survey this year.

Quarryville Man Injured.

Michael Moore, of Quarryville, an employee of the Hudson Valley Cement Company at Alsen, sustained a double fracture of the left leg just below the knee Monday when the cable which pulls the cars in the mill broke and struck him. The fracture was set by Dr. Dean W. Jennings, of Catskill, and Mr. Moore was taken to his home.

Queen Mary and Alexandra III

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Feb. 27.—Newspapers today expressed uneasiness over the state of Queen Mary's health, following the issuance of a court bulletin saying she was confined to her room by a severe cold.

The queen was unable to accompany King George to the Duchess of Roxburgh's grand dinner party last night.

Newspapers commenting upon the queen's illness, pointed out she had not left Buckingham Palace for six days.

Dowager Queen Alexandra, mother of King George, and the widow of the late King Edward, is indisposed at Sandringham Palace. Her secretary said she was merely suffering from the effects of old age.

Queen Mary is in her 57th year; Dowager Queen Alexandra is in her 80th year.

FASHIONABLE FISH

"I must go to a cooler climate for the summer," said Mr. Bluefish.

Mr. Bluefish.

"To be sure it isn't summer there yet, but it is well to begin my journey," said Mr. Bluefish. "And some of the other fishes said the same. 'It's a pity,' said Mr. Bluefish, as he shrugged his fins, 'that people do not know how fashionable many fishes are. We take many a journey, oh, there are ever so many fishes who do the same. Every year they take a trip. There are the Summer Flounder family and the Weakfish family and many others who come from the South, where they have wintered, to the North, where they will summer. And the Cod take our places in the autumn, when we find it chilly to stay North. 'I swim travel up rivers, along the ocean, oh, they take journeys of miles and miles and miles.' 'But people don't appreciate that! They will say to each other: 'Are you going away anywhere this summer? Are you going to visit your mother's people or your father's relatives or your friends?' 'They will say: 'Will you go camping this summer when it gets hot or will you stay at home and spend your vacation quietly?' 'They ask each other all such questions, but you would think they would say: 'Well, I see by the river or the ocean that a number of the fish summer residents have arrived.' 'No, they don't do that. 'They say: 'I see by the paper that Mrs. So-and-So has moved into the house up the street. I wonder if she will find a good cook. The last lady who lived there couldn't get a cook to suit her, and she didn't know how to make a thing herself.' 'It would be so much more interesting if they said: 'The summer fishes are coming. They will do their own housekeeping and they will not engage any outside cooks or laundresses. 'They do not need laundresses. They are constantly being washed—and as for being fried, no fish would put up with that.' 'That is the way they should talk, so that everyone would know how we travel and journey and what distances we go. 'They will speak of the birds and will say how interesting it is the way the birds travel, and how they come at one season and leave for another, and live in different parts of the country during different seasons. 'They think that is very interesting. But they don't seem to bother much about fishes. 'They should, poor dears, for they would find, then, how fashionable and smart fishes were, and are. 'Ah, dear," and Mr. Bluefish looked from out his glassy eyes, "some know about us, it is true. 'Fishermen do—but the world of style and fashion doesn't seem to talk about what we're doing. 'Too bad, too bad," and he waved a sad, unhappy fin.

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

A salad is always welcome and three welcome if offering something new and appetizing.

Dutch Salad.—Flake one small herring and cut into fine pieces, mix with one cupful each of cooked, minced ham and shredded fowl or veal cut into dice the same quantity of cooked beets, a cucumber pickle and one pint of boiled potatoes with one small onion, minced. Dress with three tablespoonfuls of tarragon vinegar and eight of olive oil, one-half teaspoonful of French mustard and salt and pepper to taste. Sprinkle with chopped hard-boiled egg, capers and sliced olives.

Uncooked Mince-meat.—Take two cupfuls of chopped cooked beef, five cupfuls of chopped apples, three cupfuls of raisins, one cupful of molasses, four cupfuls of brown sugar, one cupful each of vinegar and cider, one cupful of chopped suet, one tablespoonful of cinnamon, a tablespoonful of cloves and a grating of nutmeg. This makes a gallon and will keep if kept in a cold place until used. It may be cooked and canned and will then keep indefinitely.

Orange Gelatin Cake.—Bake a sponge cake in two layer pans. Prepare jelly of gelatin and orange juice or use the prepared kind, molding it in one of the layer tins. When stiff place on one layer and cover with another of cake. Frost with orange icing.

Prune Tapioca.—Wash fifteen large prunes and put to soak overnight. Take three-fourths of a cupful of tapioca and soak in twice the amount of water. Stone and chop the prunes. Add enough water to the liquid to make four and one-half cupfuls. Bring to boil with the prunes, tapioca, one cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cook in a double boiler for forty minutes. Add flavoring to taste and one-half cupful of pecan meats. Serve cold with cream.

Shock-Proof Glass

An American optical instrument company, which during the World war threw off the foreign dominance of the optical glass industry, has announced that in its own glass furnaces it has obtained a product that withstands great shocks and blows and which is recommended for goggle lenses. This glass is as thin and transparent as usual lenses.

The bureau of standards in Washington recently completed comparative tests which show that it is far superior to preceding types of goggle glass. Samples of the new material successfully withstood blows of 2.95 foot-pounds, produced by dropping a steel ball 1½ inches in diameter from a height of eight feet. In all cases, even when finished in ways which reduced its possible strength, the new product withstood at least 1.50 foot-pounds, or five times the previous maximum. As indicated by the results of these tests the new glass is a superior product for safety goggles. Scientific American.

Boxer Must Not Kiss His Opponent in Ring

The boxer's kiss has been placed under the ban. For some time it has been the fashion for two fighters to exchange kisses—one on each cheek—at the conclusion of a ring battle, but the French Boxing Federation has decided that for hygienic reasons the practice must go and has issued an official decree ordering its abolition.

Originating in southern France, the custom gradually spread to all French rings until it threatened to become a mania even among the professional fighters.

PETER MANNING NOW TRAINED BY GEERS

"Grand Old Man" Will Try for 1:56 1-2 or Better.

From Memphis come the glad tidings that Peter Manning, 1:56 1-2, the fastest trotting horse ever foaled, is wintering in fine fettle in the hands of his new trainer, Ed Geers, and may surprise the knowing ones next summer by setting a new record for harness horses with his veteran driver in the sulky.

Geers is seventy-three years old, yet his inborn gift of getting out of horses the last ounce of effort that is in them seems to be as effective today as it was when he first came into prominence more than forty years ago, says a writer in the New York Herald.

Monroe Salisbury, himself a horseman who has had few peers and perhaps no superior, once said to the writer that in a lifetime of experience with stage horses on the plains and race horses on the Grand Circuit, he had never seen more than about half a dozen men that he could call great drivers, and he mentioned Geers as one of them—all the rest were stage drivers—largely because of this singular magnetic influence over horses, as shown by the way in which he could, without whip or voice, make a trotter do more for him than he would or could do for any other driver when the silent man from Tennessee set that strong face of his in a close finish.

Peter Manning, now eight years old, passed into Geers' hands after Thomas W. Murphy, "the wizard of the sulky," had trained and driven him with consummate skill four years for the purpose of giving him the fastest record he was capable of making. It would indeed be wonderful if "the grand old man," as Geers is now called by the followers of trotting, could take such a horse under such conditions from such a master as Murphy is universally conceded to be and improve his record after he had failed last season to equal it in the hands of the younger man. Stranger things have happened, however, than that the magic of the veteran's touch should get a mile out of the long-eared grandson of Peter the Great which would cap the climax of the careers of both man and horse. There was a time in October of 1922 when Peter Manning gave evidence of being able to beat 1:56 1-2, perhaps by a second or more. But he was not so fast a horse last year. Can a man who is well past the allotted age of three score years and ten condition him and train him and drive him so perfectly that he will come back to his best form of two years ago? The harness racing world will wait eagerly to see.

Gigantic Gate Receipts at Moscow Soccer Game

More than a trillion and a half rubles were paid in admissions at Moscow when the soccer team of that city met the team from Petrograd in the annual intercity championship match. The fans who paid the gigantic gate receipts were well repaid, for the match was sensational and brought victory to the Moscow team for the second time in 16 years. The match always has been an outstanding event in northern Russia, and this year proved no exception. The admission was not in excess, proportionately, with that of other years, but a great gathering was on hand to witness the contest. Further light is thrown on the size of the amount taken in at the gate when it is known that a loaf of bread at that time cost 300,000 rubles.

Brooklyn Drubs Morgenweckers

Kingston is Bumped Off Easily at Home Court 13 to 27—Banks Plays Stellar Role, Making 21 Points.

Manager Frank Morgenweck will not file a protest as the result of Tuesday evening's game at the local armory court. At the Brooklyn court Sunday evening extra minutes were required to decide the issue but last night extra minutes were absolutely unnecessary, for at closing time the Brooklyn squad was in front by a 43 to 27 tally.

The Morgenweck squad was outclassed in passing, shooting, floor work, team work, etc. The visitors caged a total of 13 baskets from the playground, while the local team was but able to cage 5. The amount of fouls caged was 17 each.

Banks led the attack for the champions of the first half. The diminutive forward caged a total of 21 points, making 6 fields and 9 fouls. Besides making the largest score on the local court during the Metropolitan season, Banks also set a mark which will be hard to beat. Out of nine tries from the fifteen foot line he caged nine. Banks's playing all during the season was a means very noticeable in winning the first half pennant and putting the Brooklynites on even terms with the Paterson for the last half honors. Another player most valuable to the winners is Brennan, who played a very steady game and came in second with 12 points. Conaty started in a forward position and Banks played guard in this contest. Conaty replaced Conaty in the last period.

There was very little spectacular playing on the part of the home club. W. Husta led the team in scoring, cage 3 from the field and 3 fouls

Shamrocks Didn't Like Referee Lawson's Decisions

The preliminary game at the armory court Tuesday evening caused a great deal of discussion. The contest was staged between the Shamrocks, a fast combination of youthful players from the St. Peter's and the St. Mary's Juniors teams, and the Battery 1 team. Lawson was the referee for this contest and his decisions were disputed by the Shamrocks in the closing minutes when the score was 25 to 24. At this stage of the struggle with but one minute remaining, the Shamrocks quit the floor and took to the showers. The referee decided the game in the soldier boys' favor 25 to 24.

The game was very interesting from the start. At half time the Shamrocks were in front by a 13 to 10 tally.

Suggest How to Spend Hospital Bond Issue

Citizens' Committee Reports to Governor That More Facilities Are Needed For N. Y. City Patients Who Overcrowd Upstate Institutions.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 27.—During the campaign for the $50,000,000 bond issue for state institutions a Citizens' Committee on Protection of the State's Unfortunates was formed under the auspices of the State Charities Aid Association. This committee has continued to function since the passage of the bond issue and has just submitted to the governor a report making recommendations for the expenditure of the first appropriation of $12,500,000 to be made from the bond issue. This report is signed by George W. Wickert, chairman of the Citizens' Committee on Protection of the State's Unfortunates; William H. Chadbourne, chairman of the Executive Committee, and Homer Polka, secretary.

One of the striking recommendations points out that if overcrowding is relieved in the metropolitan area it will afford progressive relief for overcrowding in the up-state hospitals by discontinuing the use of hospitals scattered all over the state for New York city patients.

The figures in the report are necessarily tentative but they indicate approximately what can be accomplished within the $12,500,000 appropriated this year.

The report in part follows: "Pursuant to your request, the Citizens' Committee on Protection of the State's Unfortunates submits to you its suggestions in regard to the portion of the bond issue for state institutions available this year. Under the terms of the act, not more than $12,500,000, or one-quarter of the total amount made possible by the favorable vote of the people on election day, can be contracted for in any one year.

In reaching our conclusions, we have had in mind chiefly the following considerations: 1. In voting favorably on this project, the people of the state had in mind most prominently the serious fire hazards in the state hospitals for the insane, hazards which are greatly increased by the present overcrowding of those institutions, which overcrowding is a very serious obstacle to curative treatment. Relief of overcrowding both promotes better treatment and at the same time reduces the hazard of injury and loss of life by fire.

In so far as fire hazards can be reduced by alterations, additional fire walls, better equipment, and similar measures, provision therefore must be made from current revenues. Since the proceeds of the bond issue are available only for new construction, provision should be made in the budget this year for substantial relief along these lines.

2. Overcrowding in the state hospitals is reckoned by a comparison of the actual census with the "certified capacity," i. e., the capacity as determined by the state hospital commission, chiefly on the basis of floor space. As the hospitals have long been overcrowded, the commission naturally takes the most favorable view possible in determining capacity. "Certified capacity" is, for instance, much in excess of the number that would be allowed in the same buildings in the U. S. Army hospitals.

A study of the existing overcrowding in state hospitals (census as compared with certified capacity) shows that it is distributed as follows:

In the Metropolitan area.....4,144
In nearby hospitals (Middle-town and Poughkeepsie).....976
In up-state hospitals.....2,273

Total.....7,393

"Because of delays in construction of hospitals in the metropolitan area, the unfortunate practice of sending New York city patients to distant hospitals has been resorted to. At this time the number of New York city patients in hospitals outside the metropolitan area is as follows:

In nearby hospitals (Middle-town and Poughkeepsie).....2,019
In up-state hospitals.....3,256

Total.....5,275

"These figures make clear the astonishing situation that if all New York city patients were withdrawn today from up-state hospitals, there would be no overcrowding, but would be, in fact, 583 vacancies (comparing census with certified capacity), instead of an overcrowding of 2,273; and that if New York city patients were withdrawn from Middle-town and Poughkeepsie, instead of an existing overcrowding of 976, there would be 1,043 vacancies.

"The inescapable conclusion from these facts is that new construction to relieve overcrowding should be built, where the patients are, i. e., in the metropolitan area. This, however, would also afford progressive relief to the up-state hospitals by discontinuing the constant procession of New York city patients to state hospitals scattered all over the state, which has resulted in serious overcrowding and undesirable conditions for the up-state patients.

"This general consideration should not stand in the way of such construction as may be necessary to make each up-state hospital a completely equipped hospital, able to provide curative treatment in the true sense of the word.

2. The completion of the separate group at the Kings Park State Hospital for the care and curative treatment of ex-service men is properly one of the first charges upon available funds. Toward the maintenance of these patients the Federal government makes an allowance. It and when this group is no longer needed for ex-service men, it will be available for other patients and will be the best equipped group of buildings for curative treatment of mental diseases in the state system. 4. Next to the protection of the insane, the consideration most strongly urged in connection with the vote on the bond issue was the relief of overcrowding in institutions for the feeble-minded and additional provision for the large numbers of mentally defective children needing protection who cannot now be received.

5. Besides the very large numbers of the insane and feeble-minded, there is another class of unfortunate whose claims to adequate care and treatment are universally admitted, namely, crippled children, made such by infantile paralysis, by tuberculosis of the joints or bones, by accident, or by other causes. It is an unarguable fact that any crippled child whose condition could be improved by proper treatment and suitable care should fail to receive such treatment and care.

The following expenditures are recommended:

State Hospitals for the Insane.

Wingdale—$2,595,000.

Creedmoor—$4,000,000.

Provision for Ex-Service Men—

Two years ago the state decided to construct a special group of buildings at Kings Park State Hospital for the ex-service men now in various state hospitals. This group will accommodate about 1,000 patients. Buildings now in the course of construction will accommodate about $50, but no provision has been made for the necessary utility construction. For additional buildings for patients and for the necessary utility buildings the estimated cost is $1,930,000.

Matthew—$1,000,000.

The above would constitute the major factors in this year's program so far as the insane are concerned. Two other minor needs might also be met, namely:

Manhattan State Hospital—Quarters for medical staff, estimated cost, $70,000.

Rochester State Hospital—Additional building for 50 patients at the Lakeside Colony on Lake Ontario, estimated cost, $80,000.

Total for State Hospitals, about $9,675,000.

For the Mentally Defective.

Letchworth Village—$1,812,500.

Rome State School for Mental Defectives—$670,000.

Total—For the Mentally Defective, $2,482,500.

For State Charitable Institutions.

1. Crippled Children—The only state hospital for crippled children is that at West Haverstraw. It has at all times a long waiting list representing practically every county in the state. The quickest method of providing additional care is the enlargement of this hospital. Two buildings for sun treatment (solaria), accommodating 50 patients each, and nurses' home of 25 beds would cost about $225,000.

2. Epileptics—The Craig Colony for Epileptics has an admirable site, permitting of substantial development. Utility construction for underground connections for heating and other purposes would improve the present service and be a necessary preliminary step for additional construction. It is estimated at $95,000.

Total—For State Charitable Institutions $320,000.

Grand total—For all purposes $12,477,500.

The above items are based on present building costs and are necessarily tentative. We suggest that will be the best equipped group of buildings for curative treatment of

CORPORAL TETLEY SENDS NEWS OF ANCIENT PAPER.

Corporal G. F. Tetley, Troop A, N. Y. State Troopers, a Kingston man, stationed at the Batavia Barracks, sends The Freeman the following clipping from the Buffalo Times:

Dunkirk, Feb. 25.—Sometime ago J. J. Shuhart of Park avenue, this city, received an old upholstered chair which had been in possession of the Shuhart family for many years. Deciding to fix up the chair, Mr. Shuhart ripped off the cover and beneath it discovered an old-time paper which proved to be a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, printed on January 4, 1800, at Kingston, N. Y. The paper was printed only a few days after the death of George Washington and was largely taken up with an account of the death of the father of our country. The column rules were black, in mourning for Washington's death.

This is one of the 150 or more letters that reach The Freeman annually telling of the finding of a copy of The Ulster County Gazette of Jan. 4, 1800, each of which The Freeman answers with a printed explanation of the fact that no genuine copy of the paper is known to be in existence, although there was one copy years ago at the Eden Musee in New York that was accepted as genuine. Many facsimiles, printed much later, are in existence.

New Boxing "Commish" Stern

Will Make Mitt Slingers Fight Men of Own Class Which Will Make Berlenbach, Walker and Lynch Work Harder.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 27.—The New York boxing commission is going to rule distance fights with an iron hand. There is going to be no dilly dallying by the members and rules will be formulated that no fighter will be able to dodge, on penalty of suspension. And the commission is going to see to it that there will be no "set up" bouts in which the stars or near stars will compete. And the commission has ruled that the champions in the various classes must fight or feel the iron hand of discipline.

Under the new order of things two champions—Joe Lynch, bantamweight, and Mickey Walker, welterweight—have given the commission assurances they will be seen in the ring in the near future defending their titles against opponents worthy of fighting for the crowns. The two champions who have been under the ban because they declined to meet opponents selected for them, have promised to meet fighters selected by the commission. Lynch will meet the Golden Boy on March 21. Walker will meet the best boy in his class available on or before May 15th. The commission ruled, however, that neither bout need be held in New York state, that being left to the discretion of the champions, but if held in any other state the bout must be to a decision. Both bouts undoubtedly will be held in New York.

Paul Berlenbach, knockout king, is not going to have any soft marks in the future. The board has decreed that Jack Stone who was expected to hit the canvas in next Monday night's bout with Berlenbach was not a suitable opponent and will also be looking into Young Fisher, of Syracuse, to see if the latter will "fit the bill." This ruling will mean that if Berlenbach wants to mount the little ladder he will have to climb the rungs over top notchers and not set ups.

Incidentally the ticket speculating scandal involving Tom O'Rourke's charges against Tex Rickard, is going to be given a thorough probing by the commission. As Chairman Brower of the commission stated: "Action will be taken which will fit the developments."

If the commission's investigation justifies criminal prosecution that prosecution will be pushed according to Brower.

WHY BANKS?

LESSON V

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman.

Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

Why does not the banker pay savers as high interest on their money as he charges borrowers when he loans them that same money? Text books say he must charge more than he pays so as to meet overhead expenses, his unavoidable losses, and dividends.

OVERHEAD EXPENSES—cost and maintenance of the bank building, with costly equipment, such as steel vaults, so the depositors' money will be safe; light, heat, supplies, fire and theft insurance; taxes; and salaries to men and women employees of honesty and ability.

UNAVOIDABLE LOSSES—occasional unrepaid loans made to those who have the misfortune to fail in business. Although bankers exercise great caution and are experts in judging business conditions and character, they sometimes have such losses. These must be met out of the gross profits from interest charged borrowers above that paid depositors—as fire insurance companies meet losses out of reserve funds created by careful investment of premiums.

DIVIDENDS—money divided among stockholders out of clear profits left over after overhead, losses and all other interests of the depositors have been fully taken care of.

Thus bankers pay depositors less interest on their savings than they charge the borrowers of those savings so that they can earn funds to meet the expenses of rendering efficient, careful and valuable services to the depositors.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ABOUT THE HOUSE MONEY

Aunt Emmy found Molly crying as if her heart would break.

"What's the matter, Molly dear?" she asked, patting the bride's shoulder.

"Oh, Aunt Emmy, it's that horrid money. The household money is gone again, and I don't know where it went. I can't tell Ted, and yet I can't finish out the week. And I was going to save some every week, too!" she wailed.

"So that's it! It certainly does beat all how silly people are about money. Now stop crying, Molly, and tell me how much you are short this week."

"Ten dollars," sobbed Molly.

"Dry your eyes and come out with me," comforted Aunt Emmy. "Everything will be all right. The bank is soliciting small accounts. I noticed they have thrift accounts, too."

"I don't care," sobbed Molly. "I can't have a bank account. No money."

"You are going to open both a household checking account and a thrift account. A thrift account can be opened with one dollar, and you must put aside a certain sum every week. You should save two dollars each week. Money that you once get your hands on is mighty hard to save, so when we go to the bank we will ask them to take two dollars out of your weekly household money deposit, and put it in your thrift account. The thrift account will pay interest."

"But how can I keep my bankbook straight?" sighed Molly.

"You can add and subtract, can't you?" snapped Aunt Emmy. "You went to school, you know, and the bank will be glad to show you at first. Come on, Molly, let's be going."

At the bank Aunt Emmy gave Molly a check to start her account. "You can give this back to me at the end of the year, Molly. You can save it easily. Never buy by telephone. See everything for yourself. Keep accurate accounts, pay your bills promptly, and don't carry money around with you."

When they came out of the bank Molly was the proud possessor of two pass books and a check book.

"I've always been afraid of banks," said Molly. "But I didn't know people in them could be so friendly. And besides getting things down in black and white this way will make it a lot easier to keep them straight. I just know it will!"

Aunt Emmy smiled knowingly.

Red Cross Worker in Alaska "Medicine Man" to Natives

FROM Ketchikan in the southeast to Nome in the northwest defines the long and hazardous trail of Miss Ebba Djupre, American Red Cross field representative in Alaska. It is a stretch of 1,400 miles as the crow flies. By boat and dog sled she gravitates out across the mountains with their Eskimos to the Arctic Circle with its Eskimos and midnight sun.

This Red Cross nurse halts at nothing in her task of organizing the work and services of the eleven Chapters of the American Red Cross that thrive in "Seward's Ice Box," as the Alaskan Peninsula was cynically designated at the time the United States purchased from Russia this land of limitless resources. The Indians and Eskimos, and all the others pioneering in this vast territory, Miss Djupre declares, are "the most lovable people." Duty requiring a steamboat trip up the Yukon river from Nome, and the culinary equipment of the vessel threatening to starve her, Miss Djupre signed as ship's cook, and reports that "the loveliest part of this new occupation is that I will save almost $100 of steamboat fare for the Red Cross."

Arriving at an Indian village from which calls for assistance for the sick adults and children had been sent out, she found nothing but the school building habitable and the place where the sick were congregated in a deplorable condition. There was only one small room to accommodate the sufferers and the Indian women immediately surrounded the cabin, curious to see the stranger come to act the "medicine man."

"Airveyor" Loads Grain. The "airveyor" is a pipe line system which conveys grain from an elevator to a vessel at the water front without the use of the familiar belt. Operated by a hurricane of wind forced through the pipe by giant fans it will load 4,000 bushels an hour.

Rainfall of One Inch. A rainfall of 1 inch on a roof of 3,000 square feet would mean a total of 250 cubic feet, or about 41.5 barrels of 45 gallons each, enough to fill a cistern 8 feet in diameter to a depth of 4.37 feet. This does not consider possible loss from splashing, etc.
